

SCHOOL YEAR DRAWS TO CLOSE

Outstanding Senior Class Leaves GHS

Pictured above are the officers for one of the finest senior classes to make its appearance on the Galesburg High School scene. In the front row are treasurer Carolyn Higgins and secretary Judy Buck. Standing are president Phil Stewart and vice-president David Cox.

Jarri Sue Shover
New SAA President

The Student Activity Association of Galesburg Senior High School will be under the capable leadership next year of Jarri Sue Shover, who was recently chosen the president of the organization. The choice was based on business and leadership ability.

Conscientious Junior

Jarri Sue, an active, conscientious junior, has served her school and fellow students well during the two years she has attended Galesburg High. She not only excels in extracurricular activities, but scholastically as well. FTA, GSL, and GAA keep her very busy. She has been an SAA representative, a member of the GAA board, and a GSL cabinet member. She is also a member of National Honor Society. Jarri Sue enjoys most sports, her favorite being tennis. In the future, she would like to teach either biology or math and plans to attend Illinois State Normal University.

Active Job

As SAA president, Jarri Sue will be very busy. Among her many duties, she will have charge of the annual kick-off and awards assemblies. She will also handle the financial records and the SAA cards. All of this requires an adept business aptitude.

cessful, having 1200 members. Mr. William T. Hines, the sponsor, and Susan Lass, the outgoing president, have done commendable jobs.

The annual awards assembly, to be held tomorrow, will be lacking of one award; that award to "the most talkative GHS senior," goes to Jimmy Carr, as he was selected for this honor by editor Mike Lawrence.

Awards Assembly
Set For Tomorrow

On May 22, the Student Activity Association will present the annual awards assembly. Several honors will be accorded students who excel in their particular field of activity. Some of the awards to be presented will be debate awards, vocal music, dramatics, instrumental music, football, wrestling, basketball, track, golf, baseball, cross country, managers, and cheerleaders.

Individual Honors

A few of the individual awards to be received are: D. A. R. award, Women's Club art awards, the Harvard Book award, Mrs. Gale history award, Intramural award, Outstanding Senior Future Home-maker award, new athletic records, National High School mathematics contest, DeKalb agricultural award, American Legion award, Reader's Digest award, and the Gerald D. Phillips scholastic and athletic trophies. These are only a few of the awards to be given out.

BUDGET Memorial Award

One of the main attractions of the show will be the issuing of the BUDGET Memorial Award to the most valuable GHS senior athlete this year.

Most of the team awards to be presented to the school by a member of a squad will be accepted for the school by the president of the Student Council, Mike Vitale.

By David Moberg

The time of graduation once again draws nigh and the Class of '59 is anxiously preparing for this momentous occasion. This coveted honor will be given to them and the satisfaction of fulfilling one's task will be felt by their teachers. As soon as final examinations end for these seniors, a round of special parties and celebrations begins for them.

Baccalaureate Is May 31

On Sunday, May 31, the traditional Baccalaureate service will be held in the high school gymnasium at 8:00 p. m. Leading the seniors in the processional will be the junior marshals, Robert Tomlin and Rose Marie Allen. Ten other juniors will serve as ushers. They are Carol Cooke, Ronald Litvin, Mike Lawrence, Sharon Shanks, Lyda Crawford, Joy Cremens, Sam Sperry, Jarri Sue Shover, Jon Zinsmeister, and Mike Leighton.

The invocation will be given by Mary Hunter. The A Cappella Choir will follow on the program with two anthems, "How Lovely Is Thy Dwelling" from Brahms' "Requiem" and "To Thee We Sing" by Tkach. Leonard Shane will read the Scripture and Rev. Donald G. Peterson of the Bethel Baptist Church will offer a prayer. After that, the entire assemblage will join in singing the Baccalaureate Hymn.

Dr. Olsson Will Speak

The Baccalaureate speaker for this year, Dr. Karl A. Olsson, is a distinguished member of the faculty of North Park College and Theological Seminary. Recently he was nominated for the office of president of that institution and will probably receive that appointment. He is a man of varied experience and has a deep interest in humanity. These assets, combined with his oratorical ability, make him an outstanding speaker. Dr. Olsson was once an army chaplain. He also served as assistant dean of students at the University of Chicago for two years. He is well known for his competent literary ability demonstrated in several popular books. His speech will be entitled "Faith For Deeps."

Rev. Donald Peterson will then pronounce the benediction and the choir will sing the Sevenfold Amen. The junior marshals will then dismiss the graduating class.

The committee for this service has been aptly directed by Richard Zeaske. Miss Saaijenga has been the faculty advisor. Members of the committee are Sandy Smith, Leslie Wood, and Leonard Shane.

368 Seniors Will Graduate

On June 4, the Commencement exercises will be held in Steele Gymnasium. Once again the 368 graduating seniors will congregate in their white caps and gowns. This will be the long-awaited moment when they will receive their high school diplomas from Dr. Clifton R. Bell and Mr. Vernon Broadhead.

The members of the class will march in to the strains of the Processional from "Aida" by Verdi. Mr. Charles Morrow, editor of the Galesburg Register-Mail, will charge the graduates with their obligations upon receipt of their honor. Mike Wald and Frances Dahlberg will respond to this charge. The choir will sing at the Commencement. Then the 1959 class will receive their diplomas and be inscribed in the annals of history.

Stage Call Holds
Banquet, May 14

On May 4, Stage Call held its annual banquet at the Galesburg Club. After a delicious dinner, Dr. Rowland K. Chase, head of the Knox College Dramatics Department, gave an amusing parody on a Shakespearean professor.

After this, Mr. Maurice Beck awarded Dixie Beghtol the dramatic scholarship which is given the most deserving senior. Mr. Charles Krause and Mr. Harold Skinner presented the Oscars. They were given to: Ron Litvin, best actor; Dixie Beghtol, best actress; Vaughn Callison, best supporting actor; Linda Lyon, best supporting actress; David Weaver, most promising sophomore; Pat Stevens, best student director, and Lynda Heron, best crew head.

Pat Stevens announced next year's officers for National Thespians and Stage Call. Ron Litvin was named president of Thespians and Carol Thomas, the Sevenfold Amen. The jun-

BUDGET Pays Tribute To Gary Mize

The editorial staff of the BUDGET takes great pleasure in paying tribute to one of its most valuable assets in this final issue of the year. Gary Mize ranks as one of the unsung heroes on "America's Foremost Student Newspaper."

Mize, a member of the senior class, has given a vast amount of time to taking pictures for the bi-weekly publication. When he and his camera are called upon for action, he is a willing and competent worker. Gary has worked for the BUDGET for three years, but has yet to lose his enthusiasm for the paper. Besides working for the BUDGET, he is a main cog in the picture taking for the REFLECTOR, Galesburg High School's other publication.

The faculty sponsor for the photographers is Mr. John Aitchison, while Mize's capable assistant is Gene Rodef-

BAND AND CHOIR CLOSE BUSY YEAR WITH CONCERTS

Both music departments of the high school were represented in two concerts given during the past two weeks. The band and orchestra concert was held Tuesday, May 12, in the high school auditorium. The program consisted of four numbers by the orchestra and six by the band, directed by Mr. Edwin Lantz. The orchestra selections were: "Hope March" by Papini, "Hungarian Dances, Numbers Seven and Eight, by Brahms, "From the Canebrake" by Gardner, with a violin solo by Dorilee Walworth, and "My Fair Lady" by Lowe. The Band played "Old Comrades," a march by Teike, "The Barber of Seville" by Rossini, "Variations on a Folk Song" by Shumann-Erickson, "Polevetsian Dance" by Borodin, "Sea Portrait" by LaGasse, and "Proud Heritage" by Latham.

Next the Girls' Chorus did "It's a Grand Night for Singing" and "Vere Languores Nostros." The excellent Sophomore Sextet gave out with "Hi Ho Sing Gaily," followed by "The Snow," sung by the Girls' Chorus. This piece included violin accompaniment by Cheri Christy and Dorilee Walworth. The Chorus finished with "Summertime." The Boys' Octet gave a rendition of "Battle of Jericho" and the Girls' Sextet sang "Now Is the Month of Maying," "Born to Be Free," "Ole Ark's A Moverin'," "Steal Away," "Happy Wanderer" were all capably done by the Harmonizers. They were followed by "I Enjoy Being a Girl," sung by the Girls' Sextet.

The Mixed Octet sang "Going to Boston," then the Girls' Octet sang "My Darling." From "The Music Man" came "Pick-a-Little, Talk-a-Little" and "Goodnight Ladies," sung by the Girls' Sextet and the Boys' Octet. The choir sang Part IV—The Kid from "The Kid," and "The Nutcracker Suite." Cherry Cross, Kathy Gilmore, and Gail Sullivan contributed ballet dancing to

Vocal Concert Presented

The annual spring concert given by the vocal music department of GHS was Tuesday, May 19. The title of the performance was "An Evening of Song." It was directed by Mr. Roland Hegg. The program started off with the A Cappella Choir singing "Cantate Domino," "Magic Night," "Ole Moses Put Pharoah in His Place," "To Thee We Sing," and "How Lovely Is Thy Dwelling Place." Then the Girls' Octet sang "Nancy Hanks" and the Boys' Octet

Bobbette Scott Rates Superior In Latin Contest

Bobbette Scott, a GHS sophomore, garnered a superior rating in this year's state Latin contest, held May 2 at Loyola University. Mr. Howard Reuter, local Latin instructor, announced last week that Bobbette had achieved this superior rating through an outstanding job on the second-year Latin test.

Another State Winner

Miss Scott's effort typifies the outstanding record compiled by GHS students in state competition this year. The school basketball squad finished third in the state; the debate team tied for the sixth spot, while the band and choir also had several entries in state meets.

Others Compete

Bobbette was not the only student to make the trip to Loyola from our school. However, she was the lone winner. Others who competed were Larry Murdock, Shirley Yarde, Mike Lawrence, Roger White, Frances Dahlberg, Judy Hawkins, and Carey Jordan.

Banquet Held

The annual Latin banquet was held May 4 at the Central Congregational Church. It was a gala affair featuring skits by the individual Latin classes.

Editorial

In speaking of the successes which have been attained by the GHS student body we often tend to neglect certain admirable features which have been especially prevalent during the past year.

We try to display the merits of our high school by pointing out such things as our two Merit scholars, our 21 Illinois scholars, the outstanding prowess of our athletes, debaters, musicians and linguists, and other individual and group accomplishments. While these feats are certainly excellent, and speak well for the school, we must remember that the individuals who are responsible for them constitute only a small minority of the entire GHS student body.

We should remember that if we are to fairly discuss the successes of the school, we must take into account the education which is being afforded all 1300 students. One manner in which this might be accomplished would be to examine the grades of each of the enrolled pupils. This, however, would be very impractical as well as a bit doubtful as a criteria. This is so because there are more important facets of high school life than learning this fact or that, or getting this grade or that.

It has occurred to this author that the main objective of the secondary school should be to instill proper motivations and attitudes toward learning and society in general. Fortunately, this is something which can readily be observed without a thorough compilation of data. Assuming these things to be so, we shall now consider the attitude of the GHS student body in three aspects.

First, let us consider the attitude in the classroom. Since the advent of the Russian sputniks educators have attempted to impress the need for students to become more serious about their schooling. GHS students apparently have been heeding these words because we noticed a marked change in students' classroom attitudes. Not only are they seemingly becoming more serious about their work, but they also seem to be considerably more appreciative of scholastic endeavor than at any other time in recent years.

Secondly, we shall examine the progress of the student in the halls and corridors of the school. Here, too, student attitudes appear to be on the upswing. Courtesy and politeness are now taking their place as the rule as opposed to the exception which they formerly were. Dress and appearance of students are also noticeably improved.

The third aspect of student attitudes exists in the society outside of schools. Galesburg students are becoming more civic minded each year. The incidence of vandalism, while still in existence, is decreasing, and the formation of auto clubs is doing a great deal toward curbing teenage traffic offenses.

Thus, it is clear that Galesburg High School is to be commended not only on the merits of a few, but for the education which it is giving all its pupils by helping them prepare for society and further learning. This, however, by no means indicates that we have attained perfection in our educational efforts in Galesburg. Instead it should imply that while many gains have been made, much more could be done if we are to have the kinds of education we want.

SUMMER VACATION

Yes, it's finally coming after all those dreary months of waiting. Spring is here, and summer vacation is on its way. Day after day you've chalked up that big red "X" marking off the days and getting closer and closer to freedom. But just exactly what does summer vacation mean to you? When that final bell rings on June 5, what will you be thinking about?

If you're a senior that bell will mean a close to one chapter in your life and the beginning of a bright new one. To others it will mean jobs, summer school, camp, vacations, or maybe just plain being lazy.

Summer vacation is really like a big piece of cake that you can hardly wait to sink your fork in, but when you do, it's gone all too soon. Each year summer vacation brings something special—something that you'll never forget. It may be the new faces or new places on a vacation or at your favorite camp. Perhaps this summer will long be remembered as the first summer you held down a full-time job, and that feeling of happy satisfaction when you bank your first paycheck.

Summer is a reason of romance—maybe this year's memories will be connected with those of someone special. Summer is so many things all rolled into three marvelous sun-filled months. Summer is tennis rackets, beach blankets, portable radios, and sun tans. It's sports cars and bermuda shorts; picnic baskets and cold lemonade. It's a warm evening, softly glowing with the brilliance of stars, and an outdoor movie beneath spice-scented vines. It's a bright, hot sun shining down on a sandy beach, and the crystal clear water that closes around you when you dive.

Summer is a season of contrasts. It is the heat of a blazing sun, and the cool of a summer evening. It is the glistening freshness of early morning dew and the muggy stillness before a storm. Summer is peace and excitement; sadness and laughter. Most of all, summer is memories—memories that will etch themselves forever in the hearts of all those who are waiting and longing for that final bell on June 5.

We'll Remember Always

We've stuffed our heads with information
We've passed the last examination
We're filled with wild exhilaration
Because today is graduation.

Graduation has come at last to senior, to parent, to teacher. After twelve laborious, joyful years in public schools, the time is at hand for bidding farewell. It seems like the end of an era. It will be. This is finally the last year in this building. This building, forever immortalized by the scribbles of names on the painted windows in back of the stage, on desks, and wherever gay youth ventured to leave behind some remembrance of his years here.

For some, this is the last year of education. They will work next year and the year after that in factories, in business offices. They will be absorbed by society; become another number to the state and national governments. Others will continue their schooling for more years. They will labor joyfully in colleges and universities throughout the land to gain degrees, more money and prestige. Some of us will become doctors, some lawyers, dentists, professional people. Wouldn't it be something if one of us became famous? Well, I remember him. He sat right next to me in American History. I never thought he would become . . .

It is sad when you look back on the years you've spent here. But there is the future. The future that will bring a lifetime of new things, new experiences, friends and enemies.

Sometimes we have wondered if we would ever get here. It seems like a road we could never travel again. It's been years of gaiety, years of sadness, years of fun, years that will always be cherished. Oh, reunions will come, but faces will be missing. I don't see Bill around. Remember him?

May your lives be merry and you become a happy wanderer through life. This is the grand performance. Let's give them something to remember. Act one is over. Act two is just beginning. When act three comes many, many years

The Adult Western

By Richard Rodgers

The other night while watching television and desperately trying to do my homework, I heard something like this:

"Howdy, Matt, what brings you out this way?"
"Howdy, Ben. You know what I'm here for."
"You mean Tom, Matt? I didn't do it, Matt."
"The townspeople think you did, Ben."
"I didn't, Matt."
"I didn't say you did, Ben."
"Thanks, Matt."
"That's okay, Ben."
"I hated Tom, Matt, but I wouldn't kill him. I don't even have an alibi, Matt."

"The townspeople are furious, Ben."
"Matt, all I can say is that I didn't do it."
Why should this be an adult western? Maybe it's not the plot at all; it might be the commercials.

The adult western gives you more of a character study, in a quiet, peaceful way. Sometimes you'll find yourself feeling sorry for the villain. Often the hero is just as mean as the varmint known as a crook, but the hero has the sponsor on his side, so he's sure to win. Our hero has grown up, though. He isn't found sitting in his saddle strumming on a guitar singing to the cows. More likely he's in a bar smoking away, gambling, and sipping whiskey through his bright teeth. He can even have a girl now. At the end you'll see him kissing the dance girl, rather than his horse.

The characters have grown up, but the plot hasn't. You wouldn't have a western if you didn't use one of the seven basic plots. You never see a western, adult or otherwise, that doesn't have a happy ending. The better guy, who just happens to be the star, always gets the bad guy, and the ranch is always saved, and the little boy always ends up in a happy home, or the struggling young couple gets hitched, and the tough kid with the gun reforms. This happens on "Gunsmoke" and it happened with Roy Rogers.

A few of the superior, outstanding adult westerns, which really are adult, have been: "Ox Bow Incident," "High Noon," and "Broken Arrow." The first one got away from all the other westerns. There were no noticeable good or bad guys, or law vs. criminal, no romantic theme, and the ending was anything but happy. The second won its fame because of the suspense involved in it. The third was about the first western to give a keen insight into the Indian's problems.

The adult western will go on and on. I wonder how they'll do it ten years from now? And whatever happened to Hopalong Cassidy?

Senior Alley

The last time you were running down "Senior Alley," frantically hurrying to the gym or to Home Ec class, did you happen to see Susan Johnson or Maurice Baker? They can often be found there.

Susan Johnson, better known as Susie, is quite a talented and busy girl. She is Head Majorette, a member of Choir and the Girls' Sextet, she also is on the GSL Cabinet and belongs to French Club.

Susie has a personality that is tops but she does have her likes, dislikes, and bad habits. She doesn't like to stay up till all hours and do homework and her pet peeves are teachers that give surprise tests. Susie says that eating instead of studying is her worst bad habit. I can't believe that!

Mort, Maurice Baker, says he likes to play basketball and go to Orchestras shows and he dislikes sophomores which go through senior's gym lockers. (K) He is a member of Stage Call, Latin Club, Boys Forum and "G" Club.

When asked what he did at the drive-in (passion pit) he paused and said, "D like everybody else." Then he added, "And the Lordie was on Baker's side." This is his favorite expression.

Now I'd like to say "Bye" on behalf of Susie and Mort.

from now, be able to look back on a smash hit. Rock the world, rock the universe. Auf Wiedersehen—till we meet again.

Halls 'a' Poppin'

All this year we have asked the students questions for this column. Since this is the last issue of the BUDGET this year, we thought it might be fun to ask some of the teachers a question, it being, "what are your plans for the summer?" Here are some of the answers we received:

Mr. Hegg: Hope to build a house.
Mr. Soper: Spend the first half at the U. of I. and spend the rest of the time getting ready for next year.
Mr. Van Norman: Hope to attend the Rotary International in June and visit our daughter, Marilyn. Mrs. Van Norman will spend some time listening to organists. I'll be hunting old and rare books in New York City.
Mr. Crown: I would like to go to summer school, then to the deep blue lakes of Minnesota for a week of fishing and relaxation.
Mrs. Werner: No plans as yet.
Mr. Beck: Fishing in Canada.
Miss Ryin: Get moved into the new school and fulfill my duties in getting organized. Then to Colorado.
Miss Schwarz: Go to Colorado for a month and spend one week at FHA camp at East Bay Bloomington.
Mr. Fish: Stay in Galesburg.
Miss Sharp: As little as possible.
Mr. Hines: Not going to do a thing.
Mr. Wallace: Teach Driver Training.
Miss Ryner: Enjoy life.
Miss O'Connor: Going to summer school in Wisconsin for eight weeks.
Miss Anderson: Going to Cripple Creek, then coming back to move to DesPlaines where I'll teach at Main Township High.
Mr. Smith: Going to New York for a month and just loaf.
Miss Denny: Going to stay home.
Miss Gehring: Just be lazy and take a few short trips.
Mr. Skinner: May go to school.
Mrs. Bangert: Move.
Mr. Dameron: Work for the telephone company.
Mr. Damberg: Get the shop moved to the new school.
Mr. Simpson: Try to take a trip to Michigan for a little fishing.
Mr. Whitcomb: Move, fish, work in the clinic, and build an artificial lake.
Mr. Lantz: Take it easy.
Miss Weikum: Rest.
Miss Hinchliff: Nothing, that's the joy of vacation.
Mrs. Findahl: I don't know. Sometimes I do things on the spur of the moment and have as much fun.
Mr. Houser: I have the summer swim program.
Mr. Thiel: Run the summer recreational program for Galesburg.
Mr. Van Dyke: No plans.
Mrs. Bonesteel: Move to the new high school.
Mr. Mansager: Paint my house the same color it is—red.
Mr. Broadhead: Rest.
Mr. Griffith: Work with the DeKalb Hybrid Seed Co. and go camping in Canada with my family.
Miss Summerwill: I'm going to get married this summer; then I'm going to start raising whole classrooms full of children whom I'm going to train to speak good English.

Mr. Jones: Attend summer math institute at Knox.
Mrs. Dunn: Sleep, mow the yard, sleep, mow the yard...
Mr. McCormick: Go to Victor, Colorado.
Mr. Goodwin: Go to Bracken, get GHS transplanted, and get my daughter graduated from Northwestern.
Mr. Taylor: Rather indefinite school plans.
Mr. Eacott: Work! (I hope.)
Miss Stacy: Nothing definite, but I'll probably end up going west.
Miss Gates: Planning to take a trip to Washington, D. C., and New York.
Miss Saaijenga: Going to Michigan. Might even pick some cherries.
Mrs. Mullen: Show my husband how to play golf and teach my son to swim.
Mr. Kuster: Going to school.
Mrs. Sperry: Summer swim program for eight weeks. Then I'm going fishing.
Mr. Turner: May go to college in Colorado for eight weeks, then work around the house.
Mr. Lundeen: Nothing special. Direct city of Galesburg playground.
Mr. Frank: Work here in Galesburg.
Mrs. Hawkinson: Stay at home canning, freezing and making a garden.
Miss Youngblood: Visit my sister in Indiana—nothing definite as yet.
Mr. Bowen: Sell ice cream in West Frankfort.
Mr. Chamberlain: Work for the school.

Summer Night

That was a night to remember. I don't think there are two such nights in a century. The four of us were sitting around the campfire talking about unimportant things, because the night was somehow too omnipotent to talk about important things.

We each had a glass of cherry cider and a few pathetically burned marshmallows before we decided that it wasn't the kind of night to eat campfire food. No one said so; that's just what we thought.

It was August, but it was cold enough in the mountains for coats, so as soon as we realized it was cold, we put them on.

As if it were prearranged, we all stood up to leave, mainly because the evergreens were so thick and close around us we could hardly see the night. We crossed the gurgling mountain stream on the single log, that seemed so difficult during the daylight, with ease; nothing was difficult or impossible that night.

We hiked up the steep slope of the mountain until we came to the little meadow we used in the daytime to sun-bathe, and each of us found a rock high enough out of the grass to sit upon. No one said a word. The only noise was the soft swishing of the graceful grass as the air floated around it, delicately and constantly. I pulled out the stem on my watch, stopping it, so it couldn't prove that time wasn't standing still.

We sat that way for what must have been an hour and a half, although we were utterly unconscious of any specific moment. The moon, fuller than I have ever seen it, moseyed up over a distant mountain peak so that it looked like a pie with one piece cut out. The stars turned themselves on one by one, and each was spectacular in its own simplicity. As the enormous moon trailed across the night—the night, actually, rather than the sky—it overwhelmed powerfully the stellar light around it.

That was the kind of night it was—just to watch, so we did until its splendor was at its fullest—perfection. Perfection such as none of us shall ever see again.

I don't know why or when we left, but there we were, meandering down the mountainside. No one said a word, because there was nothing to say. A night like that just couldn't be described. We looked up for a moment and caught the shimmering reflection of the moon on a distant glacier; and it glowed like a cross in the dark and sent prickly chills down my back.

We recrossed the stream, parted company, and went to sleep. No one has mentioned that night since—there just hasn't been anything to say.

Well, this school year is finally drawing to a close. I'm going to miss all of you this summer. I'm just going to lay around in the sunshine and get a nice tan. I have to rest up to be prepared for the new batch of sophomores coming next fall. I'm down to the bottom of my joke bag, but I hope you like these.

Nancy: This is an ideal spot for a picnic.
Ned: It must be—fifty million insects can't be wrong.

The lon echick, taking a look about the incubator full of unhatched eggs, sighed and remarked: "Guess I'll be an only child—Mother's blown a fuse."

All things may come
To those who wait.
But when they do
They're out of date.

Foreman: What's the idea of quitting?
Riveter: I don't mind the rata-tat-tat of the air hommer, but the guy behind me hums all the time.

I think that I shall never see,
The dollar that I loaned to thee.
A dollar that I could have spent
For various forms of merriment.
The one I loaned to you so gladly,
The same which I now need so badly.
For whose return I had great hope,
Just like an optimistic dope.
For dollars loaned to folks like thee,
Are not returned to fools like me.

Mrs. Dunn: A fool can ask more questions than a wise man can answer.
Peggy Lesis: No wonder so many of us flunked the exam.

Sharon Mize had paper and pencil ready as the operator looked up the number.
"Madam," the operator said, "the number is Capital 2-1264."
Sharon paused, the masked, "How do you make a capital 2?"

Here I sit in the moonlight
Abandoned by women and men,
Muttering over and over
I'll never eat onions again.

Margie Webster has been working hard on her grammar lately. The other day she said, "I can't wear my plaid skirt any more. I sent it to the cleaner and they shranked... they have shrank... they... oh!" she broke off in exasperation, "I put on weight!"

Bill Hollis: Nurse, I would like to have my chest X-rayed.
Nurse: Why?
Bill: Next week is my father's birthday and I want to show him my heart is in the right place.

"I never back up for an idiot!" shouted Dave.
"That's all right," said Leonard, as he shifted into reverse. "I always do."

Yesterday

By Bonnie Holmes

Yesterday is yesteryear; the past of the living, The future of the dying. That frugal day Which often eluded our searching grasp, That day which can never be dawn again. Why have we let life so quickly flee, To be lost in the unending silence of eternity. We can never regain those vanquished moments; Nor can we sustain time itself. Let us pledge ourselves to value time More fervently.

STREAKS TOP RAMS, 4-3

Possess Season Record of 17-2

The Galesburg High School baseball team defeated a tough Peoria Manual squad at Lake Storey Saturday afternoon. In winning their 17th game of the season, the Streaks halted the 16-game victory string that Manual brought into the contest. With the 4-3 triumph the Silver and Gold now has a 17 and 2 record to match the Rams from Peoria in that department.

The first inning saw a lot of action as Jim Umbeck, pitching for Galesburg, was met with a double by the first man to face him. The next batter belted one to deep short where Otis Cowan made a great stop but couldn't make a play, leaving runners on first and third. Jim got out of trouble when the runner on first was out trying to steal, and he fanned the next batter.

Galesburg didn't waste any time in their half of the first frame. Cowan and Butch Finch hit back to back singles, and then Jeff Sandburg slammed a triple which scored both Cowan and Finch, giving the Streaks a 2 to 0 lead. Roger Fox made the score 3 to 0 as he hit a sacrifice fly which scored Sandburg to end the scoring for the inning.

In the second, Peoria Manual came to score one. run. They did it when Rathbun hit a three-bagger to right field to be followed by a single by Craley to score him. Umbeck settled down to retire the side. Galesburg only had not hit in their half of the second, a single by Bobby Mills after Jim Umbeck got a base on balls.

Umbeck had little trouble in the third as he retired the side in order. The Streaks again had only one safety in their turn at the plate. The lone hit was a one base sock by Jeff Sandburg.

Peoria started off the fourth with a lead-off single by Craley on a ball which Cowan made a great stop on but couldn't throw him out. Otie came right back on the next play when he took a throw from Umbeck, stepped on second and forced to first to complete an unassisted double-play. Galesburg had one hit in their half, a single by Dick Algren.

Manual didn't score in their half of the fifth after a base on balls. The Streaks collected their final run in the bottom of the fifth period when Cowan singled and moved to second on Sandburg's infield out. Roger Fox singled to score Cowan.

Umbeck got in trouble in the seventh as he allowed two runs, three walks, and a single before Ralph Cannon came in to retire the side and end the ball game.

Miss Lou Ellen Schuman, GHS senior, will be the first Negro to attend the Cottage Hospital Nursing School. The BUDGET would like to take this opportunity to congratulate Lou Ellen and the Cottage Hospital. Good luck!

Golfers Turn In Excellent Season Mark

The Galesburg Silver Streaks golf team has compiled an outstanding record of 12 wins against two setbacks. The Moline Maroons gave Galesburg both of their setbacks, but Moline went on to Champaign to finish 13th among the teams entered.

Coach Hungerford's linksters finished second in the Illini Conference and they were runner-up to Moline in the District which was held at Indian Bluffs in East Moline. Hungerford is fortunate in having all of his golf team back next year with the exceptions of Bill Underwood and Mike Vitale. Both Underwood and Vitale have turned in some outstanding rounds of golf in the past seasons.

The Silver Streaks have had some fine golfers during the season, but Hungerford has been forced to go along with the five golfers during most of the season. The five golfers have been Pete Boynton, Galesburg's only qualifier in the state tournament which was held last week at Champaign. Pete shot an outstanding round of golf at the district at Indian Bluffs when he shot a fine round of 74 to get second place in the tournament.

Boynton has been the team's number one man. For the number 2 man, Hungerford has gone along with Bob Coe (who also was a member of Galesburg's fine basketball team). Coe was also the team's number 1 man during some of the matches. Both Coe and Boynton are sophomores and certainly have some great years of golf ahead of them.

Junior Irv Jacobson has been the team's third man, and Irv has turned in some mighty good golf during the season.

Another sophomore, Les Jasperson, has turned in some fine rounds of golf during the season. Les has shown some great promise during the year. John Malstrom, a fine sophomore, has won some important matches during the season.

Other linksters who have acted as alternates, and have done a great job during the season are juniors Ed Havens and John Owens, and seniors Mike Vitale and Bill Underwood.

Other members of the squad are Dave Sperry, Sam Sperry and Jim Swanson, who all have shown great promise.

THREE TRAVEL TO STATE MEETS

Galesburg's famous red blazers made their second appearance of the 1959 school year last weekend on the backs of Dave Cox and Larry Murdock, Galesburg's entries in the State Track Championship meet, and Pete Boynton, the lone Streak golfer to qualify for the State Golf Meet held in Champaign.

Cox and Murdock, both returnees from last year's seventh place state finishers, won first place honors at district in Rock Island to gain positions at Champaign. Cox, fourth place finisher at Champaign last year, broke his own discus mark of 149 feet with a tremendous 153 foot throw to set a new district record. The redhead again finished fourth in the discs at Champaign behind the tremendous throwing of Jim Webb of East St. Louis. Cox also qualified for the shot put and finished fifth at Champaign.

Murdock, a junior, made his second trip in two years of varsity competition at GHS. The big half miler, one of the best in this area, took first place honors at district with an outstanding time of 2:01.7, his best to date. However, the field of half milers at Champaign this year was the largest and best in the history of Illinois track and Murdock failed to place in the finals at Champaign.

Although they didn't match last year's seventh place finish, Cox and Murdock showed up well, especially among the downstate teams making the trip to Champaign.

The Galesburg track squad will end a successful season next week at the Woodruff Relays. Although suffering from a definite lack of depth, the Silver and Gold harriers were always among the leaders in meets, finishing second in the Monmouth Relays, Kewanee Relays, and the Illini Conference meet. The outlook for next year is outstanding, also, with Murdock returning, along with Mike Leighton, Gil Burton and others, and bolstered by an outstanding sophomore squad.

The outlook on the golf course is a bit brighter, however. Although final results from Champaign were not available at this writing, Pete Boynton, Galesburg's only entry, was expected to finish among the leaders at Champaign. Boynton, only a sophomore, was the mainstay of the Silver and Gold linksters this season. Pete, one of Illinois' outstanding young golfers, finished second at the district golf meet held in Moline two weeks ago, by virtue of a par 72 and the winning of a playoff with Larry Hund of Corpus Christi of Galesburg, who also came in with 72. The GHS golf team, although not sending a full team to Champaign, has played fine golf this season, and the linksters have consistently finished among the leaders in each and every meet. The outlook for next year seems to be bright. In fact, four of the first five golfers this season were sophomores. Back next year will be Boynton, Les Jasperson, Bob Coe, and Jon Malstrom, along with Irv Jacobson, a junior, and others.

G-Club Feast 27th of May

By Mike Feldman

The Boys' Varsity "G" Club will hold its fifteenth annual banquet honoring its parents.

The banquet will be held in the Hotel Custer Ballroom on Wednesday, May 27, 1959.

Banquet For Parents

As mentioned previously, this banquet is for the parents. It is estimated that some 250 people will be in attendance to enjoy the festivities introduced by toastmaster George Lundeen.

Friesen, Cox Honored

During the evening, special commendation will be given to Don Friesen who received the Gerald D. Phillips Scholastic and Athletic Award, and to Dave Cox as the Most Valuable Athlete. Cox will receive the BUDGET Memorial Award.

NU Coach Speaks

The entertainment for the banquet will be numerous. First of all, there will be some numbers by the Boys' Octette. Then Sam Andre, baseball umpire and manager of the American Legion baseball team, will present a special skit. The highlight of the evening will be a speech by Ara Parseghian, head football coach at Northwestern University. The college mentor has already said that Galesburg's two Kimbroughs will play an important part in the Northwestern attack this fall. His talk should be good as well as interesting.

As a part of the program, Larry Murdock will give a welcome to the parents who are in attendance. "Coke" Mills will then give a response from the parents.

Officers Inducted

Also as part of the evening's ceremonies the outgoing "G" Club officers: Dave Cox, president; Phil Steward, Vice-President; Gary Fleming, Secretary; and Treasurer Mike Leighton, will give way to the new officers. The new officers are: President, Larry Murdock; Vice President, Mike Leighton; Secretary, Fred Foster; and Treasurer, Ross Stribling.

Pictured above is the 1959 baseball squad which is coached by Don Houser and John Thiel. This is one of the finest diamond crews in Galesburg High School history. With the regular season completed, their record stands at 17-2; however, the Streaks have yet to be eliminated from state tournament play. Good luck, men!

Fourth At Geneseo; Woodruff Relays Triangular Remains

Streak crew ventured to Geneseo to participate in the annual Geneseo Night Relays.

Last Friday the Silver Apparentely the host hadn't heard of southern hospitality for the walked away with the first place trophy in the seven-school meet. The final team standings are as follows: first, Geneseo, 72 points; second, Kewanee, 68 points; third, Sterling, 65 points; fourth, Galesburg, 60½ points; fifth, East Moline, 40½ points; sixth, DePue, 5 points; and seventh, Fulton, 4 points.

Operating without Dave Cox and Larry Murdock, the cindermen placed only three men in the finals of the individual events. There were: Don Friesen, third in broad jump; Ted Olson, second in 100 and 220; and Lenny Booth, fourth and fifth in high and low hurdles, respectively.

The Streaks picked up one victory in the relays, that being in the 880 yard relay with the team of Fred Jahr, Wayne Gilson, Don Friesen and Jim Arnold. Seconds were received in both the 440 yard relay and the distance medley.

Next in line of meets for the ever traveling tracksters is the journey to Peoria to compete in the Woodruff Invitational Relays. This meet, in which usually six or seven schools are entered, is one of the roughest and best of the campaign. Here the Galesburgians will be seeking their first relays triumph.

The track squad ends the season Saturday evening with the annual Galesburg - Canton - Monmouth meet at Monmouth.

The annual Intramural track meet was held at Lombard Field on Thursday, May 14, and was easily won by the sophomore class. The Sophs racked up a total of 69 points for a 23 point margin over the second place juniors.

The meet was hurried because of the threat of rain and was run off in very fine order at the hands of Mr. Fish.

The only double winner of the day was Gary Gunther with victories in both the high and low hurdles.

Team standings: Sophomores, 69; Juniors, 46; Seniors, 30.

Sportside WITH STRIB

TO CHAMPAIGN . . . following in the paths of the basketball and wrestling teams, both the track and golf squads sent representatives to the home of the 'Fightin' Illini to compete in the state meets held the past weekend.

The tracksters were represented by Dave Cox in the shot and discus and Larry Murdock in the half mile. The final results showed Cox fourth in the discus with a fine toss of 159 feet 9½ inches, and fifth in the shot with a put of 53 feet 7 inches. Murdock, operating in the finest field of half milers in the history of Illinois high school track, did not place but turned in an excellent time of 2 minutes 1.4 seconds, his season's best.

The delegate from the linksters of GHS to make the trip was sophomore ace Pete Boynton. Throughout the year Boynton has consistently been the medalist for the Streaks, always finishing near par. At the district meet held at Moline, he finished second with a two-over-par 74. Boynton failed to garner a place in the final tabulations of the state link play.

MANUAL GAME . . . The Galesburg Silver Streaks baseball "9" brought home the laurels from which was probably their toughest assignment of the season last Saturday at Lake Storey. Galesburg got started on the right foot when they tallied three markers on singles by Otie Cowan and Butch Finch, a triple by clean-up man Jeff Sandburg, and a sacrifice fly by Roger Fox. The Housermen scored their final and deciding run in the bottom of the fifth inning on singles by Cowan and Fox.

The Manual tallies came in the second and seventh frames when they scored one and two runs respectively.

Jim Umbeck, ace southpaw fireballer, started for the Silver and Gold but was relieved by Ralph Cannon in the seventh stanza when the visiting Rams threatened.

Coach Stonebach's Peorians, champions of the Big "8" Conference, entered the contest with a very impressive 17-1 record. The Galesburgians, champions of the Illini Conference, entered with an almost equally fine record of 16-2.

STATE TRACK MEET . . . As was expected, Bloom Township High School repeated as team champs for the fourth straight time, a new mark in IHSA record books.

As a whole, the individual marks weren't up to the standard of the statewide marks in earlier season competition. It is interesting to note that the only records set at state this year were in the discus, 172 feet 3 inches, by Cloyd Webb of East St. Louis, and in the half mile, 1 minute 55.1 seconds, by Rudy Morgan from Phillips.

SEASON'S END REMINDER . . . It is time to remind all you fans that the privilege of viewing your track and baseball squads in action is drawing to a close. Coach VanDyke's cindermen end the season this week with the Woodruff Relays tonight and a meet at Monmouth Saturday evening. The diamondmen concluded their regular season with the Manual game, but still remain in the state play.

WELL FED . . . Anyone who participates in athletics at GHS will agree to the fact that the Galesburg squads are among the best fed in the state. After every contest away from home they receive a meal usually consisting of steak on chicken, french fries, a salad, rolls, milk and dessert. Upon chatting with athletes from other schools, I have learned that the majority of them are given little or nothing in the victual line. We all wish to express our thanks to Mr. Bednar and the athletic department from the bottom of our hearts and stomachs.
