GHS BEGINS SCHOOL YEAR

TV Show Is Plot Of SAA Assembly

To give the sophomores a better outlook on GHS, the annual Kick-off assembly was presented on September 12.

Susan Lass, the new SAA president, introduced the program, which was a take-off on a television station.

Main Functions Outlined

Bill Holmes started off the assembly by outlining the main functions and the advantages of this organization. He explained the many phases of SAA which each student may purchase for $9.50.

Next came Mike Wald, the editor of the BUDGET. He and his guest speaker, Frances Dahlberg, informed the students about the BUDGET and the REFLECTOR.

Master of ceremonies, David Brouillette, then introduced the variety portion of the assembly. This included the music and drama department of GHS.

"Charlie and Henry," played by Linda Lyons and Dixie Beghtol, was a comedy routine which gave the students a preview of the space age. Next was the "Little Church Choir." This was made up of Linda Gunther, Diann Anderson, Carol Anderson, Judy Buck, Patsy Ledbetter, and Sharon Levins. They sang "Be Kind To Your Teachers."

The popular Silver Chords entertained the audience by playing a few selections. Following this, Peggy Hammond sang "Bless This House."

Following this was the commercial by Carole Thomas. The station break followed this with Richard Zeaske and David Shotts.

"The Line Up"

Vaughn Callison, narrator, then presented "The Line Up." Included in this skit were: Dave Cox as Mr. Mullen, Lennie Boothe as Mr. Mansager, Phil Stewart as Mr. Frank, Bob Mills as Mr. Houser, Mike Reatherford as Mr. Van Dyke, Brad Ator as Mr. Thiel, Fred Durbin as Mr. Lundeen, and LaVerne Landon as Mr. Hungerford.

Speeches on the outlook of this year's football and cross country teams were given by Mr. Van Dyke and Mr. Hungerford.

The conclusion of the assembly was the cheerleaders leading the student body in a few cheers.

Sophomores Oriented By Student Leaders

On September 4, the Sophomore class of Galesburg High School had an orientation assembly. Mike Vitale, president of the Student Council, headed the assembly by introducing the student heads of the various organizations.

Activity Heads Present

Present during the program were: Dave Cox, president of "G" Club; Mike Wald, editor of the BUDGET; SAA president, Susan Lass; Frances Dahlberg, editor of the REFLECTOR; Ann McKenzie, GSL president; Dick Nichol, president of Boys Forum; Patsy Ledbetter, Pep Club president; FFA president, Larry Miller; Diana Staff, FHA president; and Dick Zeaske, president of National Honor Society.

Enjoyed by all, this helped to familiarize the sophomores and made them feel a little more a part of GHS.

FFA Scores At County Fair

The Galesburg FFA Chapter was well represented in the FFA Show at the Knox County Fair, with 19 boys participating.

There were 15 first places, 11 second places, 3 third places, 4 fourth places, making the Chapter's total prize winnings at $373. Top money winners were Larry Miller and Everett Brackett with their swine projects.

The FFA Chapter is sponsoring a Corn Picker Safety Drive this fall. Different members of the Chapter will contact farmers and urge them to practice safety while harvesting their corn. Safety Stickers will be given to them to put on their pickers to remind them to operate their pickers with all caution.

The FFA will welcome 11 new members into the Chapter September 18 at the initiation ceremonies held during the lunch hour. The Chapter welcomed the following boys: Robert Ballew, Harold Bloomgren, Max Ericson, Gil Flag,

Student Body Elects Council

Student Council of GHS was started this year with an installation assembly Thursday, September 18, in the auditorium. Different speeches were presented by last year's Student Council president, Dale Yeager, and also the guest speaker, Dr. Bell.

Student Council Officers

Mike Vitale introduced the officers for the coming year, who are: president, Mike Vitale; vice president, Phil Stewart; secretary, Ann McKenzie and treasurer, Dave Cox. He also introduced the new members at large, who are: Susan Lass, Gloria Danner, Dave Cox and Jim Arnold. The representatives from each advisory then introduced themselves.

A musical selection, "Give Me A Song," was given by the Girls Octet.

The representatives and their advisories are as follows: Seniors: Carol Anderson 2, Bill Brown 3, Casey Clark 102, Dave Dickerson 103, Gary Fleming 104, Barb Harpman 107, Bill Holmes 111, Patsy Ledbetter 112, Ann McKenzie 113, Carol Nelson 215, John Sauter 230, Ronnie Schoning 305, Phil Stewart 320, Patty White 323, Dean Bonesteel 140C, Mari Barrowman 222, and Ellen Johnson 227.

Juniors: Donna Allen 5, Susie Botruff 7, Sandy Cameron 100, Carol Cooke 101, Sandy Epperson 125, Fred Foster 125, Jean Grant 127, Carl Henderson 141, Milo Johnson 142, Ron Litvin 143, Don Nelson 200, Nadine Pottorf 212, Janet Read 224, Susie Schurtz 231, Cookie Swanson 242, Bob Tomlin 243M, and Roger White 321.

Sophomores: Jean L. Anderson 4, Linda Black 6, Bill Cannon 105F, Chris Cox 105T, Barb Dennison 120, Dick Fox 126, Peggy Hammond 210, Janet Harpman 214, Bob Inness 220, Sherry Ledbetter 223, Kay Melton 225, Margie Nelson 226, Dave Peterson 232, Linda Roberts 240, Jean Sorenson 241, Karen Swanson 303, Susie Wager 304, and Jim Woods 342.

After the initiation the Sophomores served a lunch to the rest of the Chapter.

Debaters In Preparation For Year's First Tourney

Under the guidance of Coach Maurice Beck, the GHS debaters are busily preparing for the first tournament of the year to be held in Washington, Ill., November 8. The veteran studded squad has been doing research in connection with this year's debate topic: "What system of education would best serve the interests of the people of the United States?"

One debate has already been held this year between the affirmative team of Bill Holmes and Mike Wald, and the negative team of Mike Vitale and Leonard Shane. These four boys, along with Ron Litvin, junior, attended a debate workshop this summer. Holmes attended the University of Illinois work shop, and Vitale was at Northwestern for five weeks while Shane, Wald and Litvin all attended the Bradley workshop. In addition to these five boys, the squad includes veteran debaters Jim McGee and Vaughn Callison, plus several promising rookie debaters.

Besides their regular debate activities several of the debaters have formed a public speaking club for the purpose of improving their overall forensic ability. Each member will draw up one or two speeches which he will deliver to some professional or luncheon group. Mr. Beck is also the sponsor of this new organization.

A Capella Choir Prepares To Sing

The Galesburg High School A Cappella Choir is presently engrossed in preparing for the first performance of the year. This performance will be a part of the Lincoln-Douglas debate festivities during the week of October 6.

Roland Hegg, director of the group, will lead the choir in songs depicting the history of America. Some of the numbers to be given are: Skip to My Lou, Just Before the Battle, Mother, We're Tenting Tonight on the Old Camp Ground, Battle Hymn of the Republic, Yankee Doodle, and Columbia the Gem of the Ocean.

After Game Dance Sponsored By GSL

Girls Service League sponsored the first after-game dance following the Galesburg Peoria Manual football game. The "Quarterback Sneak" as the dance was so named, featured the music of the Silver Chords.

Choose Cast For Fall Play

GHS has gotten well under way with their fall play. "The Bad Seed" by Maxwell Anderson has been selected for the play. Mr. Skinner has picked the cast and will direct this well-known melodrama.

"The Bad Seed" was originally a novel written by William March. Maxwell Anderson dramatized this novel and Reginald Denham staged the play. Denham also directed "Dial M for Murder" and "The Two Mrs. Carrolls."

The cast is as follows:

Reflector Staff Makes 1959 Plans

The GHS REFLECTOR staff has begun work already in planning the 1958-59 Galesburg High School yearbook. According to Frances Dahlberg REFLECTOR editor, the various department personnel has been chosen and work has started toward developing a theme for the book.

During the past two weeks, seniors have been having their pictures taken by Mr. Fern Mustard for use in the REFLECTOR. In a short time, juniors and sophomores will be having their pictures taken also.

One of the major problems confronting the editors of this year's REFLECTOR is the problem of finance. As in the past some of this burden will be relieved by the sale of concessions at football games.

SAA Treasurers Are Elected

SAA is one of the most valuable activities at school. Through SAA we get to see all the home games, many outstanding assemblies, and various other activities of the year. The club has been prominent in previous years, and each year it has been proven to be worth the effort and money put into it.

Just recently SAA treasurers have been elected in each advisory. It is their job to help schedule interesting assemblies and other activities of interest to the student body. Their job also includes selling SAA to the students of their advisories.

Those elected were as follows: Jackie Ashton 4, Mary Jane Bourdon 6, Dave Brouillette 105, Paulette Daniels 105, Ann Dickson 120, Linda Erlandson 126, Janice Gardner 210, Mary Hawkinson 214, Joyce Kelley 220, Dick Lauver 223, Margaret McCommons 225, Nancy Olson 226, Judy Popham 232, Linda Richardson 240, Julia Shipp 241, Dick Streedain 303, Bonnie Templeton 304, and Carol Wallace 342, all sophomores.

Juniors elected were Peggy Austin 5, Walter Biolkowsky 7, Sandra Cannon 100, Peggi Dunn 101, Margaret Enlow 125, Joyce Glass 127, John Holmes 141, Linda Johnson 142, Vic Lindberg 143, Harlene Mast 200, Ann Pico 212, Marjorie Rudman 224, Larry Sholl 231, Linda Stoneking 242, Peggy Toller 243, and Bev Wyckoff 321.

From the senior class are Dixie Beghtol 2, Harold Boyd 3, Nancy Carlson 102, Fred Durbin 103, Gale Gilenwater 104, Carolyn Higgins 107, Nora Johnson 111, Louise Leasure 112, Joan Mills 113, Ted Olson 215, Sandy Riley 230, Sandy Smith 305, Bill Underwood 320, Dorilee Walworth 323, Roger Heveland 140, Bob Rittenhouse 222, and Sharon Nordberg 227.

GAA Sponsors Year's Initial Fun Night Meeting For Girls

The first meeting of GAA was held September 16th at 7 o'clock, in the form of a fun night.

Introduction of Officers

The meeting was opened by introducing the officers of GAA, Orchesis and Swim Club. They are as follows:

GAA — President, Sherril Ortman; Vice President, Leslie Woods; Recording Secretary, Patsy Leadbetter; Corresponding Secretary, Sharon Shanks; and Treasurer, Donna Yeager.

Swim Club — President, Louis Leasure; and Secretary, Joan Mills.

BUDGET Eds Selected To Edit Paper

BUDGET editors named their assistants early this year before work was actually begun on the newspaper.

Of course, assisting Mike Wald, editor-in-chief, is associate editor, Frank Hill. According to a new system, Wald will work in coordination with Mary Schimmel, news editor.

Assuming the position of feature editor is newly-appointed Ardith Burns, who has worked diligently in previous years for the BUDGET.

Mike Lawrence, who will take on the responsibility of the sports department, will be aided by his assistant, Ed Hill. Ed is no newcomer to this type of work as he has written sports all three of his years here at GHS.

As for the advertising editor, one has been chosen to fill the spot vacated by Bob Isaacson. However, for this issue the advertising was handled by Bill Hollis.

In addition to the people mentioned above, several seniors, juniors and sophomores will do the writing for the pages of this year's BUDGET.

GSI officers are Ann McKenzie, president; Judi Buck, vice president; Barb Harpman, secretary and Sandy Morrison, treasurer.

Every one of the above persons is responsible and enthusiastic, which are necessary characteristics. With the full cooperation of all these students, the SAA should be able to make this year the best of all. Watch the bulletins for the coming events sponsored by SAA.

Orchesis — President, Carolyn Higgins; and Secretary, Peggy Austin.

Orchesis Demonstration

Ann Pico, Sandy Smith, Adale Lauver, and Carolyn Higgins did a Modern Dance demonstrating Orchesis. Carolyn Higgins also did a solo.

Then we had refreshments and Carol Thomas and Sherril Ortman told us about their experiences at GAA camp this summer. If you missed out on this fun, remember there is still more to come. You can pay your quarter and give your heart checks to any of your GAA officers.

Barb Harpman, GSL secretary, is shown serving punch to Mrs. Robert Hoopes at the GSL style show and tea. Looking on are Mrs. Hoopes' sister, Judy Popham, and Julie Shipp.

Girl's Service League Has Annual Style Show - Tea

The style show, presented annually by the Girls Service League, was held Thursday afternoon, September 4, in the auditorium. A tea was held following the style show, with punch and cookies being served. The show is held mainly to acquaint the sophomore girls with GSL, and to introduce them to other girls.

Harpman Was Chairman

The secretary, Miss Barbara Harpman, was chairman, and she received help from many classmates, but primarily the other GSL officers. These are: Ann McKenzie, president; Judi Buck, vice president; Sandy Morrison, treasurer; and along with these, the sponsor of the organization, Miss Ryin.

GHS Models

Juniors included were: Peggy Austin, Susie Buck, Sandie Cameron, Carolyn Carrick, Joy Cremens, Shirley DeWaele, Karen Johnson, Linda Matson, Nadine Pottorf, Mary Jane Scott, Sharon Shanks, Sandy Silvey, Cookie Swanson, Marge Swanson and Ivy Wilder.

Also participating in the show were: Jean Anderson, Jackie Ashton, Diane Ator, Nancy Carlson, Barb Church, Paulette Daniels, Ann Dixon, Peggy Hamond, Janet Harpman, Nan Harris, Mary Kay

Hawkinson, Sharon Koski, Sherry Leadbetter, Peggy Lewis, Nan Norris, Toni Randell, Roxy Shoeman, Sylvia Stouffer and Karen Swanson.

The theme of the show, which was presented in four scenes, was "The Old Lady In The Shoe." The narration was done by Sharon Shurtz, while Linda Lyons was cast as the old lady. Background music was provided by Leah Mallin playing the organ.

The committee for stage decoration consisted of Cherie Christy, Eleanor Sandborn and Leslie Woods. That of table decorations included Sandy Epperson, Betty Gage, Irene Johnson, Linda Johnson and Judy Vancil.

BF, GSL Hold Elections Select New Cabinet

Boys Forum and Girls Service League held their annual elections for cabinet officers last week in the various advisories throughout Galesburg High School.

Students Urged To See Lincoln-Douglas Debate

Teachers and students of GHS are especially invited to Knox College for Lincoln-Douglas centennial events October 4-7. The college is emphasizing the educational opportunity, which will not again be available to this generation, to witness and participate in the turbulent historical scene, which occurred 100 years ago on the east lawn of the Knox Campus. The debate between Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas will be re-enacted at "Old Main," which stands today just as a century ago as the central administration and classroom building of the college. Hundreds of people in costume, horses, wagons, floats, buggies, bands and political delegations will take part in the historic pageantry. Knox County schools will be dismissed so students and faculties can join in the celebration. Old-time music and historical dramatic skits enliven the program October 4, 5 and 6.

Of particular interest to students of history will be the Illinois State Historical Society programs October 4 and 5 and the debate October 7. Students of English and many others have the privilege of hearing, seeing and visiting with Carl Sandburg, Illinois' most famous author, poet and historian on October 6. All are invited by Knox College and the City of Galesburg and many schools are planning to come by train, car caravans and in buses to share in the educational and historical events.

The fact that Galesburg dumped Peoria Woodruff 20-6 was very incredible, since the Streaks were without the services of two of their top linemen.

FHA Sponsors Wiener Roast And Hamburger Fry

The annual FHA Kickoff early Wycoff, Projects.

Wiener Roast will be held this year on September 23, at the home of Sarah Hamilton, 581 East Berrien street. From 100 to 125 girls are expected to attend the meeting.

The purpose in holding this meeting is to set up membership for the year, establish the standing committees, and to make plans for the "Ma, Pa, and Me" night, which is to be held October 14.

Chairmen for the standing committees have been selected. They are Mary Finn, Constitution; Linda Benson, Degrees; Yvonne Eager, Finance; Mary Kay Mathers, International Good Will; Sandy Epperson, Program; Blanche Elan, Publicity; Cary Jordan, Public Relations; Kay Melton, Recreation; and Bev-

The FHA sponsored a hamburger fry for activity heads Monday, September 12, at Lake Storey. Activity heads and sponsors from 19 activities were represented at the annual event which lasted from 6:30 until 8:00 p. m.

Diana Staff, Galesburg chapter president, welcomed the group. They were then served hamburgers prepared by the chapter dads, W. C. Jackson and Alfred Staff.

New Staff Starts Year

In the classrooms of GHS many new faces have been seen. Not only those of new students but those of teachers, too.

There has been nine new teachers added to the faculty this fall. They are all new to GHS but the name of one of them is familiar for his wife taught here last year.

There were two English teachers, two Art teachers, two Drivers' Training teachers, one girls' gym teacher and one Home Economics teacher.

Several of the teachers are starting their first year in the field of teaching.

The English teachers are Mr. Charles Krause and Mr. George Stuckey.

Mrs. Newton Hawkinson is teaching Home Economics.

Mr. Jimmie Crown and Mrs. Rennie Smith are teaching Art. Mr. Crown teaches the entire day but Mrs. Smith teaches only one period, the third period of the morning.

Mr. Ted Mullen and Mr. R. E. Wallace are instructing the students of GHS to drive through the Drivers' Training Course.

Mrs. Roylene Petterson has filled one vacancy which in the girls' gym but there is still a teacher needed to fill

Stage Call Holds Years First Meeting

National Thespians and Stage Call held their first meeting last week to make plans for the year.

Under the sponsorship of Mr. Crouse and Mr. Skinner the club is planning to become as active an organization as it has been in the past.

In its effort to be successful Stage Call will again sell student directories, and barbecues at noon.

Of course the climax of the year for this club is the annual awards banquet at which the "Oscars" are awarded to outstanding dramatic students. In addition the club is planning a trip sometime in the spring.

The following girls have been chosen as Sophomore cheerleaders for this year: Linda Bowman, Janet Harpman, Mary Kay Hawkinson, Marjorie Nelson, and Toni Randall.

Editorial

"Defer no time; delays have dangerous ends"
—Shakespeare.

As the curtain opens on a new school year at GHS, it may be well to keep in mind these words of William Shakespeare warning us of the folly of procrastination. It is a natural tendency for all of us to be lax in our studies during the first few weeks of school. However, to suppose that one could hope to make up six weeks of schoolwork in a week or so of time is indeed a far stretch of the imagination. This example indeed shows that delays in our studies certainly do have dangerous ends.

Now let's see what can be done about this problem: This first step in overcoming our habit of procrastination should be a general one of overcoming this trait in all of our life's facets. This is necessary because it would be impossible to curtail one outlet of this habit if we still insist upon letting all other forms of its exist. In overcoming these tendencies at a general level, we should strive to accomplish such things as keeping up to date on our domestic responsibilities, keeping our financial status in the black, and making sure our physical health is maintained. The logic of constantly keeping check of these items is obvious for they are all necessary for proper living standards. However, it is wise also to cultivate a proper attitude toward such things as these, for it will place us in the habit of keeping up with our work in school as well.

Having developed this general attitude toward promptness, we are next set to assume a specific idea in relationship to schoolwork. Of course, the prerequisite in keeping up with our academic pursuits is in handing in our daily assignments on time. However, it is also a good idea to develop routine habits in regards to long range assignments such as book reports, essays, and themes. If teachers thought that these things could be accomplished in one or two nights they wouldn't, certainly, assign them two or three weeks in advance.

This idea of being prompt and consistent certainly isn't as hard as one might be led to believe. Just like everything else that is designed to be effective in purpose, it must have a certain degree of routing and organization. Therefore, the best means of accomplishing this would be by setting up a definite plan of study which would be thorough in its scope and which also would eliminate wasted time. Through this operation it would be possible to have all daily assignments prepared and to be able to spend ten or fifteen minutes extra a day on long range assignments, thus reducing the size of the burden to be handled in the final hectic days of the semester.

Therefore, we have here a solution to this problem of homework which, although seemingly complex, is actually a simple and efficient way to maintain a high quality of work in the same amount of time used in the time-wasting hit-or-miss method.

MATTERS OF OPINION

Throughout the ensuing school year there will undoubtedly be issues that will arise in which you will have a marked opinion. If and when this occasion arises we would appreciate hearing your views in a "letter to the editor." Although we can't print all of the letters, we will certainly take an interest in them and will endeavor to print as many as possible.

DRIVE-IN

What do you do when you go to the Drive-in? Some go to watch the show, but they are few and far between.

Every Friday night the Drive-in is loaded. This is Buck Night. Let's just take a look into a couple of cars, for instance the ninth row, and see what everyone is doing.

In the first car is the Nelson family, Mom, Dad, Don, Corky, Tom, Chuck, Jack and Chris. Dad is asleep. Don is just dying to get up to the concession stand to see who is there and to get a quick (?) coke. Corky is trying to do his homework (in the dark?). Jack is playing with a little toy tractor he brought along. Tom and Mom have gone up to the concession stand; Tom had to go to the bathroom. Chuck is trying to watch the movie. He thinks it is a wonderful story, "Lassie Come Home." Chris is crying because she has nothing to do.

Her crying can be heard loud and clear in the next car where we find Adale Lauver and Butch Finch. They are trying very hard to watch the movie, but with all the noise they just can't seem to concentrate on the movie.

In the next car we find Sandy S., Phyllis, Sandy C., Mary Ann, Marge and Susie. Someone is talking about Denny somebody or other. Mary Ann is sleeping. Phyllis and Marge are telling jokes. Sandy C. and Marge are trying to see who is in the row behind them in the pink Oldsmobile.

Well, the movie is over now, and it's time to go. To end this article I take you back to the first paragraph, "What do you do when you go to the Drive-in? Some go to watch the show but they are few and far between."

Surprise!

By Lucia Trevino

Now, before I continue with my story, you must understand that I am a fairly smart kid. I mean, I've been around and I'm a pretty fair judge of boys. They are my main point of interest. So you can imagine my surprise at the game last Saturday night when I saw HIM. You know . . . the one who usually wears a white T-shirt with rolled up sleeves, and levis. Well, naturally I expected to see him at the game. Everyone knows that everyone who is anyone goes to the football games. So I wasn't really surprised to see him there, but man! Was I surprised to see how neat he looked! Really though, he had on a beautiful gray sweater and gray slacks the exact color of his sweater. Dressed like that, you could tell the man had some class after all! No kidding, I never knew a man's appearance could change so much just because he had some neat looking clothes on for a change!

And wouldn't you know! Just as I was standing there with my mouth wide open, HE chances to turn around, and he sees ME! Mouth open wide! I quickly snapped the mouth shut and managed a weak hello. And he smiled his slow sort of a smile, nodded his head and said . . . "hi."

And so I spent the rest of the game trying to catch another glimpse of him . . . but to no avail. So all weekend I had my memory of him in his gray sweater and gray slacks. And I kept wondering if he was thinking of me. For I did look pretty sharp that night, if I do say so myself (nobody else did). In my pretty black slacks and blue sweater. And I could hardly wait for Monday morning and school (sounds odd?) for then I could see HIM again.

As the day grew nearer I could hardly wait, and finally—it was here—I dressed especially nice Monday morning. And at 8 a. m. I was anxiously waiting for Jan to come pick me up. It seemed as if she'd never get there! When at last she did come we hurried to school and I went straight to my advisory. HE wasn't there! I sat on the edge of my chair and waited for him to come in. The bell was going to ring any minute. I just couldn't understand why he hadn't come.

But then . . . just before the bell, HE walked in . . . wearing levis and a white T-shirt with rolled up sleeves.

The Great Victory

By Linda Ballou

It's the night of the big game. The air is cool and crisp and spiked with the sharp autumny fragrance of burning leaves. You're all decked out in your brightest and warmest wool plaids, and you're all set to go.

Out under the lights the team is warming up. Their bright gold jerseys make a sharp contrast against the freshly lined field.

You fight your way up into the stands and find yourself a part of the gay, noisy cheering section following the cheer leaders to "Victory, victory . . . that's our cry . . ."

About time for the kickoff you discover your scarf isn't where you thought it was, and you spot it neatly draped over the shoulder of some unsuspecting soul two rows down. The "soul" turns out to be the guy that sits across from you in English, so you yell down to him.

"Mike! Hey! Mike!"

"Huh? What cha' want?"

"Hand me my scarf, will you please?"

"Scarf? What scarf? I haven't got any scarf!"

"It's on your shoulder, Mike, yes, right there . . . ohhh!"

"Ooops! Sorry, I'll get it." Down Mike goes under the bleachers for your scarf.

As you reach for the retrieved scarf someone behind yells, "Down in front!"

When you finally get settled everyone suddenly stands up. "Hi Yo Silver!" It's the kickoff. Up you jump, but too late! The ball is already in the hands of the runner and half way down the field. "Ohhh!" The crowd yells in disappointment as the player is tackled.

The game progresses. The score is tied. It's almost half time, and being a loyal band member you have to gather everything up and head down to the sidelines to assemble. In the process the crowd jumps up, yelling and cheering. Galesburg has made a touchdown!

"Who made it? Who made it?" You yell at the person nearest you.

"Dave Stamm, I think," comes the reply.

"Dave Stamm! He graduated last year."

"Oh, well then it must have been Phil Smertz."

"Smertz? Golly, what are you, a sophomore or something? What? Oh, I am sorry, I thought all the parents were down at the other end. What I mean is . . . well, this is the cheering section, and I just thought that . . . yes, of course . . . sorry."

Half time ceremonies are over and once again you're seated, and earnestly watching the game.

"Taffffyyyy appullllls . . ."

"How much? Fifteen? Just a minute . . . there."

"That sounds good. 'I want one. Up here!'"

"There he goes! Yell! Yell!" Someone cries.

"Who, what . . . oh, yeaaaa! Go! Go!" Up you jump, tossing your arms up in wild confusion.

"What . . . my taffy apple?" You gaze down at the bare, pointed end of the stick you grasp in your hand.

"Yes, sir. Thank you sir. I'm sorry, but like I said this is the cheering section and the adults really should . . . oh, yes, of course, you can sit here if you want to, but . . . yes sir. . . I'm sorry . . . sir."

The gun finally sounds. Galesburg has won! All the way back to town horns are honking and everyone is crying "Victory, Victory . . . that's our cry."

But that's not the great victory. No, the great victory is that you made it back first for hamburgers at the Huddle.

Do-It-Yourself Sweater

Knit two, purl one—knit two, purl one. Since the latest fad is knitting and I'm not one to not go along with fads, I took up knitting. I tried to knit a sweater but let me tell you about my dilemma.

The lady at the store told me there was nothing to knitting, and since that pleased me, I bought the yarn. Then she told me there were needles, a pattern and some other things to buy. After purchasing everything I needed, I went home.

When I got home, I took one skein of yarn and wound it into a large ball. This was fun I thought to myself. Then, remembering the instructions she had given me, I cast on and began the ribbing. It was getting harder, very much so, as a matter of fact, but I kept plugging away at it. I had many mistakes in the ribbing but that would not show, I thought.

After a few weeks I was getting along fine except for one experience. This happened one night when I wasn't paying too much attention to what I was doing. I accidentally knocked the ball of yarn off the chair. It rolled around the leg of one chair and then under the table. Evidently the cat liked to knit also, for when she spied the yarn she began to play. When I recovered the yarn it was rather chewed, but on I knitted.

When I got almost to the top of the back of the sweater I noticed one bad mistake. There was a large hole in the middle of my precious sweater. I had dropped three stitches in a row. Immediately I began to unravel, getting madder every minute. Why hadn't I noticed this before, I asked? I had to rip out seven inches of sweater. Oh, this was not the only time it happened. I had to rip out part of the sweater two other times.

Well, I finally decided knitting was not for me. Mother finished the sweater.

Purple People Eater

Shall we all remove our hats and gracefully shed a tear for our old friend Elvis. It seems the Purple People Eaters have invaded and taken over, and poor Elvis is out of a job.

Since Sheb Wooley first saw the Purple People Eater fly down from the sky, the teens have gone ape, or should I say People Eater. In other words, the teen age generation is a bunch of cannibals. No—that's not right. Well, anyway . . .

Joe Friday would probably describe him, her, or whatever it is, as a public enemy number one. His height is unknown, but he is believed to be a giant of 2 feet 6 inches tall. He is known as an absolute doll to all the girls, for he had green hair and a big blue eye. His most outstanding characteristic, I would say, is the horn in the middle of his head.

Myself, I don't see why he should cause such a riot. All he is is a poor little visitor trying to get a job in a rock'n'roll band. I don't think that is asking too much. But, maybe it is. He would stand out a little in a crowd.

Did you hear about . . . I hear a noise outside my window. What if it's a burglar, or a kidnaper? Goodness gracious! It's just the Purple People Eater here to visit me. I think I will ask him a question. "Mr. Purple People Eater, do you like short shorts?"

"It depends on who's wearing them. Goodbye."
"Gee, I saw the Purple People Eater. Goodness! I'm going ape. Mother, are there any bananas in the house?"

Doctor: "What is that stingy patient of yours complaining about now?"

Nurse: "He's mad because he got well before all his medicine was gone."

Lady: "Are you really content to spend your time walking around the country, begging?"

Tramp: "No Lady, man's the time I've wished I had a car."

I Am A Student

By Kathy Sults

I am a Sophomore in high school and I am somewhat settled now after the first weeks of school. I have made new friends and, all of my teachers are pretty swell.

Monday, I was sitting in English class trying diligently to write an essay on "The Freedom of the American People," when Miss Gilson, our teacher, asked us this, "What is the difference between a student and a pupil?"

The class suddenly became quiet except for the snoring in the back row, last seat; Bob was sleeping again. We thought about that question and we pondered it for about ten minutes. Finally, Karen Sue raised her hand and said, "I believe a student is one who contributes to the class room discussions, hands his homework papers in on time and neatly written, gives his full attention to the person who is speaking and is a pleasant, courteous individual." Everyone looked at Karen. "What then is a pupil?" was the next question.

Again silence fell on the room and we thought about it some more. Then Bob lifted up his head and slowly raised his hand. He said, "A pupil is someone who doesn't offer anything to the class and therefore gets nothing out of it. He merely occupies a seat. Whereas, a student is interested in learning."

A slow red crept up on Bob's face and he blurted out, "I guess I'm a pupil, but I'd like to be a student from now on."

Well, after English class, I began to think, and I wondered just how many of us at GHS are students and how many are pupils. I thought how, as Bob said, some people just occupy seats and give nothing of their knowledge to the class.

We have a responsibility to our teacher, our parents and our school. We were sent here to obtain the best education possible. But it is up to us to learn. A teacher can talk for hours, but if a person is not listening, the teacher has talked in vain. We must seek knowledge, not expect it to seek us.

As I said, I'm a Sophomore, just starting high school. I've got three years to learn and three years to be a student, not a pupil. Now is the time to begin. Even if you are a senior and counting the days until graduation, it is still not too late to become a student.

This Year

By Jean Colwell

With great anticipation,
We greet this brand new year.
Bringing, oh, so very much
We truly do hold dear.

First of all comes football.
Oh, how the crowd will cheer
When our very own first touchdown
Has been scored this new school year.

Next, homecoming comes with joy
For all who are concerned
Bringing parties, song, and dance
And more glee than we've earned.

Basketball is next in line.
Oh, how anxiously we wait
As we try to win the championship.
Oh, if only it's our fate.

Yes, this year truly holds so much
That no one can really say
Just how much joy will come our way
Or how wondrous is each day.

Sign in restaurant—This is to notify customers that our crockery and cutlery are not medicine—they are not to be taken after eating.

Mother: "We don't want our daughter's friends ruining our living room, so we are fixing a room in the basement."

Friend: "Oh, I see. A sort of wreck-creation room."

Well, another school year has started and I've been busier than ever. First of all I want to welcome all the sophomores to GHS. In case you don't all know me, I'm the mascot here at GHS. I've seen you frantically searching for rooms during the first week of school, but now you all seem to know where you are going, so I'm not so worried.

My main job is to gather all the choice little gossip tidbits and jokes. I've got a fresh new batch of them that I've picked up, so here goes.

Nancy: "This is an ideal spot for a picnic."
Ned: "It must be—fifty million insects can't be wrong."

There was a young dentist named Fiddle,
Who refused to accept his degree,
Said he, "It's bad enough to be Fiddle,
"Without being Fiddle, D. D."

Excited woman: "Are you the boy who jumped into the river and saved my son?"
Boy: "Yes Ma'am."
Woman: "Well, where are his mittens?"

The chairman of the meeting, fearing that the distinguished guest would be annoyed if flash bulbs went off while he was speaking, instructed the waiting photographers:
"Don't take his picture while he is speaking; shoot him before he starts."

The lone chick, taking a look about the incubator full of unhatched eggs, sighed and remarked:
"Guess I'll be an only child—Mother's blown a fuse."

In the Egyptian room of the museum, two boys stopped before a mummy in a mummy case bearing a card with the notation: 2453 B. C.
"What do you suppose 2453 B. C. means?" whispered one boy.
"I don't know," replied the other, "Unless it's the license number of the car that hit him."

Sign on office door of atomic scientist away on vacation: "GONE FISSION."

All things may come
To those who wait
But when they do
They're out of date.

A laundress, annoyed by cars on a dusty road soiling her clean clothes, posted this sign on the road fifty yards ahead of her clothes line: DRIVE SLOWLY; BIG WASHOUT AHEAD.

A traveler from Wales reports that when a train stops at the town of Llonfechpwillgogerych, the trainman simply announces, "If anyone wants to get off here, this is it."

Employer: (to new boy) "When you go on this errand, you will pass a baseball field."
Boy: "Yes sir."
Employer: "Well, just pass it."

A fat man and a very thin man collided on the street, to the annoyance of both.
The fat man looked at the thin man and sneered, "From the looks of you, there's been a famine around here."
"From the looks of you," retorted the thin man, "You caused it."

Well, I guess that is about enough corn for now. So long! I'll see you in the next issue.

STREAKS TAKE ON CANTON

Game Slated For Tomorrow Night

Tomorrow night, the Galesburg High School Silver Streaks will come face to face with their traditional rivals, the Canton Little Giants, in a game to be played at Canton, at 8:00.

Coach C. C. Van Dyke's charges will have their hands full in handling a very rugged Canton offense. This fact was emphasized by the sophomore coach, Don Houser, who said, "This is the best Canton team I've seen since I've been at Galesburg."

The Little Giants have a tremendous rushing attack to go along with excellent passing. Dale Harris, a junior, directs the Canton attack from his quarterback position. Harris is also active in basketball and baseball for the Little Giants. The ability of Harris to toss aials with accuracy and for fair distance should keep the Galesburg secondary on their toes all through the affair. Harris is helped greatly by the good blocking of his line on pass plays.

The junior field general's favorite targets are his two ends, and also backs Mike Marinich, Jim Fidler, and Gary Beadles. The names of Marinich and Fidler are also familiar in the Galesburg area since both of them are stand-outs in other sports.

The Little Giants were topped by Kewanee, 27-6, in a contest which was closer than the score indicates. Statistics tell the story—and statistically the teams were evenly matched.

The Silver Streaks humiliated Canton, 40-6, at Lombard Field last year, and the Little Giants will be out to avenge this defeat.

Galesburg will try to stymie the Canton passing attack by inserting the speedy Jeff Sandburg in the line-up, in the safety position. Although Sandburg may not start, he will probably see plenty of action, barring injury. On offense, he operates from the quarterback post.

Jesse Perez, who raced 37 yards with an intercepted pass last year against the Little Giants, will probably draw a starting assignment at the right end position. Perez is rated as an excellent pass receptionist, and a good defensive man.

Following this contest, the Streaks take to the road for a contest with East Peoria, October 8.

Kenny Kimbrough, a junior, will see plenty of service for the Streaks in this contest.

Ponies Notch 13-12 Victory Over Peoria Woodruff Sophs

The Galesburg High School Ponies won their second contest of the year, whipping the Peoria Woodruff Sophomores, last Saturday at Lombard Field. When the final gun sounded, the locals found themselves on the long end of a 13-12 score.

A big factor in the affair was the great offensive and defensive play of Lindell Goodman and Dave Dunham. The action started in the first quarter when Woodruff's punt was blocked by Jim Mason on Galesburg's thirty yard line. Jack DeWeese scooped up the ball and ran twenty yards for the touchdown. The extra point try was missed.

In the second quarter, Bob Ponce intercepted a Peoria aerial and ran thirty-five yards before being tackled. The second half came to a close before the young Streaks could attempt another play.

Lindell Goodman was the next Pony to break into the scoring column, as he sped over the goal line from 23 yards out. Hank Gutierrez plunged over for what proved to be a very important extra point. Billy Bentley tallied the first Woodruff touchdown in the third period on a 16-yard jaunt. The extra point attempt failed.

In the middle of the fourth quarter, Peoria's Harold Hasker ran 70 yards for a touchdown. The extra point was no good.

Kimbrough, the younger brother of Al and El, was very impressive in his sophomore year, and despite his small stature is an excellent "line-smasher" and defensive back.

Two "Butches," Finch and Pratt, both of whom have been slowed down by injuries, are hoping to improve their condition for this all-important gridiron affair.

The fall season of Intramural activity is off to a good start in some phases, but there is room for participation. Intramurals is a good place to get experience in many interesting sports.

Tennis singles are now under way. Fourteen boys have signed up for the event.

The golf tournament drew the enthusiasm and interest of 19 boys, but the total has been whittled down to 10 at this writing.

The boys' singles ping-pong is one of the biggest events. Forty individuals are participating in this activity. Mr. Fish is not having as much luck in getting interest in the doubles ping-pong. Soon another variety of ping-pong, co-recreational, will be organized, so all boys should be hunting up a partner. In case you don't know any girls, sign up with Mr. Fish anyway and he will get a partner for you.

Archery is a sport for the people with strong arms and a good eye. There have been practice sessions out on the archery range prior to competition.

Here are some other events which will be coming soon. This fall there will be Singles and Doubles Horseshoe Pitching (tournament), Flicker Ball (round robin), Co-Rec Archery (individual championship), Boys' Singles and Doubles Badminton (tournament), Co-Rec Doubles Badminton (tournament), Tug-of-War (round robin), Boys' Volleyball (tournament), Co-Rec Volleyball (tournament), and Cross Country (individual championship).

The winter events are Boys' Bowling (round robin), Co-Recreational Bowling (round robin), Sophomore Basketball Junior Basketball, Senior Basketball (all round robin), Chess (round robin), Free Throwing Contest (individual championship), All-School Basketball (tournament), Wrestling (tournament), Boys' Recreational Swimming (no competition), Sophomore Swimming, Junior Swimming, Senior Swimming (all swimming competition is by class meets), All-School Swimming (inter-class meets), and Water Polo (round robin).

The spring season will include Singles and Doubles in Handball, Decathlon, Softball, Track and Tennis Doubles.

Only with your cooperation and sincere interest can the Intramurals program succeed. Every one eligible should try to participate in some phase of its activities. Watch this page for up-to-date news of Intramurals.

GHS SMASHES WOODRUFF, 20-6

By Ross Stribling

The Galesburg High School Silver Streaks upended the Peoria Woodruff Warriors, 20-6, last Saturday, playing an extremely better brand of ball than against the Peoria Manual Rams a week earlier.

The first quarter seemed to be played evenly, as the ball periodically changed hands while remaining in Woodruff territory. Both teams displayed defensive power which resulted in numerous fumbles. The Streaks capitalized on the first Woodruff fumble which Bobby Mills recovered on the 11 yard marker. After a five yard penalty for offside was assessed to Galesburg, Dave Cox sprinted around right end across the diagonals for the first tally. The conversion was missed and the score stood 6-0, Galesburg, at the end of the first stanza.

In the second quarter, the Woodruff defense started to show the signs of wear from a determined Silver Streak "11". During the latter part of this period, the Galesburgians moved 82 yards on seven plays. Quarterback Phil Stewart led the march with some fine sneaks and two passes via end Ted Olson which accounted for 53 yards. After four attempts on quarterback sneaks, Stewart plowed over from the two yard line and booted the extra point to loft the score to 13-0 at halftime.

The third period was marked by halfback Jim Pearson scoring the lone Woodruff touchdown. Pearson found a hole in the Streak line and with superior speed outran Galesburg defenders to the goal line. Coach Van Dyke's charges were idle in this quarter, being handicapped by several fumbles.

In the final period of play, the Silver Streak offensive attack appeared to be at its peak. Although John Price put on a very fine sideline show, it was overshadowed by Bob Mills very impressive elusive running on Warrior punt returns. To put the finishing touch on the picture, speedy back Jim Arnold raced 50 yards through the Woodruff defensive unit to paydirt for the final Streak touchdown. Stewart's place-kick split the uprights and the scoring ended in Galesburg's favor, 20-6.

The difference between the type of game played against Peoria Manual and that played against the Woodruff Warriors proved to be the line-play. Against Woodruff, the forward wall displayed extreme strength, determination, and practically flawless football, the marks of a winning team.

Sophomores Face Snappers Saturday Morning at 10

A fine pony team coached by Don Houser will play Monmouth Saturday morning at 10 a. m.

Monmouth is expected to use a single-wing attack, having good passing handled by Gary Bruington, and hard, fast running by halfbacks Bob Ponce and Lindell Goodman. 28. Kewanee is next on the Monmouth has given Galesburg teams plenty of competition in past years; but GHS has usually managed to come out on top. We are looking forward to a well-played game by both teams.

Following the Monmouth game, the Ponies host Burlington October 4 at 10 a. m. October 11 the young Streaks play Peoria Central there at 10 a. m. The Sophs travel to Rock Island for an encounter at 5:45 on October 17. They take to the road against Richwoods, when they play the young Knights at 7, October 28. Kewanee is next on the Galesburg schedule, with the locals playing theme here at 10 a. m., November 1.

The starting line-up for the Monmouth game, which promises to be a thriller, is as follows: Ends: Sheehan or Prather, DeWeese; Tackles: Anderson and Gehring; Guards: Mason or Dunham, Gilson; Center: Jaspersen or Humphrey; Backs: Bruington, Ponce, Goodman, Gutierrez or Halberg.

Junior Varsity Nips Farmington

On Monday, September 15, at Lombard Field, the Galesburg JV team, led by quarterback Jeff Sandburg, halfback Jim Arnold and a strong line, came out on top of a hard-fought battle with the Farmington Farmers, 6-0.

Defensive Battle

In a great defensive game, which saw neither team score until the fourth frame, when the Junior Streaks, led by the running of Jim Arnold, Fred Jahr and Jeff Sandburg's pass to end Lennie Boothe, who was brought down on the Farmers' 4 yard line. Then Sandburg scored on a quarterback sneak from this point to give the Junior Varsity a 6-0 victory.

Penalties Inflicted

Penalties vexed the Streaks and especially halfback Jim Arnold who had three touchdowns called back; a punt return, pass reception, and a nice run. End Lennie Boothe, tackle Dave Connour, guard Jerry Grubisch, and center Larry Murdock, turned in a terrific defensive game in pacing the Junior Varsity victory.

Cox Stars In Three Sports

Dave Cox, Galesburg's ace backfield man, is certainly to be considered all-state material. The husky redhead will be in the starting line-up, as the Streaks tangle with the Canton Little Giants tomorrow night.

Besides being a standout performer in football, Dave is expected to be a regular on the cage squad, and then turn his attention to track in the spring.

In his first year at GHS, Dave was a regular halfback on the sophomore football team. Then in his junior season, he was converted into a fullback, where he played regularly. He was the only junior to notch a first string berth. Now in his final campaign, he has been moved back to the halfback spot which he occupied during his sophomore year. In this writer's opinion, the strapping 6-foot 2½ inch, 193-pounder, must rate as one of the outstanding all-around performers ever to don a Silver Streak uniform.

Last year, Dave, along with several other juniors, became a regular on the varsity basketball team. He became a starter at mid-season, and promptly broke the school's rebounding record, formerly held by Al Williams, by snatching 29 rebounds in one contest. Dave is expected to become a main cog in the Silver and Gold's hardwood campaign.

Dave makes sports an all-year hobby. In the spring, he directs his talents to track. He placed first in the shot put and the discus in district competition, before finishing fourth in the shot put in state competition, with a heave of 54 feet, 8½ inches. He also runs the hurdles for the cindermen, when called upon to do so.

Dave stays in condition during the summer months, by swatting base hits for the American Legion club.

Tomorrow night, the GHS star may be seen at times at a guard position on defense. Last year, against the Little Giants, Cox sprinted 45 yards to pay dirt, and Streak followers are hoping for a repeat performance.

As for future plans, Cox plans to attend college, and continue his football career there. He is yet undecided as to whether he will indulge in any other sports.

The former Hitchcock performer, is respected throughout the state for his hustle and determination.

Cross Country Team Loses

The Galesburg High School cross country team launched what looms to be a promising season by dropping a very close decision to Peoria Woodruff, 25-30. The meet was held on Woodruff's home course at Peoria's Detweiler Park.

The Warriors' Bill Gillingham set the pace over the two mile course to cop first place with a time of 10 minutes and 50 seconds. Woodruff also took second and third places, but the Galesburg Harriers occupied the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth slots. The top ten runners are as follows: 1, Gillingham, W; 2, Harms, W; 3, Jones, W; 4, Mike Leighton, G; 5, Don Friesen, G; 6, Len Shaner, G; 7, Ross Stribling, G; 8, Don Van Dell, G; 9, Williams, W; 10, Nelson, W.

The Harriers appear to have the necessary depth to win the Illini Conference, which is held at Lake Storey, and very possibly the District meet which may also be held at Lake Storey. The Streak runners are paced by letterman Don Freisen, Ralph Foster, Len Shane, Dick Reno, Edmund Schisler, and three very promising juniors, Ross Stribling, Mike Leighton and Don Van Dell.

Cross country scoring is based on the fact that the lowest score wins. The numbers of the places of the first five men to finish for a team are added together to determine the score. For example, a team has men finish 1st, 3rd, 4th, 6th and 8th. Their score is 1 plus 3 plus 4 plus 6 plus 8 or 22.

Get out and boost your Harriers by attending as many of the meets as possible.

The Harriers' schedule is: September 27, Geneseo, here at 10 a. m.

October 2, Canton and Peoria Central, here at 4 p. m.

October 4, Peoria Central Invitational Meet, at Peoria, at 11 a. m.

October 9, Monmouth, here, at 4:45 p. m.

October 15, Kewanee, at Kewanee, at 4 p. m.

October 18, Illini Conference Meet, here, at 10 a. m.

October 25, District Meet, (place undecided) at 10 a. m.

November 1, State Meet, at Champaign, at 10 a. m.

GAA (Girls' Athletic Association) has already started its busy year. Orchesis, the modern dance club, and Swim Club have already had their first meetings. Girls who want to become members are now practicing for try-outs which will be held soon. Orchesis meets every Thursday after school to compose and practice dances for the big spring show. Swim Club meets on Tuesday night. Their big highlight of the year is a swim show in the spring held at the Knox Gym. The first sport of the year, volleyball, has already started. Later on the girls will be playing basketball, baseball, and any other sports.

SCOOP'S SCOREBOARD

PSYCHOLOGICAL WARFARE . . . Coach Ken Hinrichs of Peoria Manual states at the start of each season that his team will be inferior to almost every team on his schedule. What a laugh! The Peoria Manual football squad, which bested our Silver Streaks, 26-0, at Lombard Field, two weeks ago, was what this writer considers a topnotch football squad. By releasing these stories to the newspapers, Coach Hinrichs hopes to make their opponents "let down their guard." Quarterback Art Schilling was one of the best field generals that I have seen in a long time. His faking set up long end sweeps by Manual halfbacks Porky Brooks, Otto Meichner, and Frank Whitman. Meichner picked up 120 yards in 7 carries. One of his jaunts went for 61 yards and set up a Manual six-pointer.

GOLIATHS . . . This writer was pointed out an article in an out-of-town paper, which referred to the Silver Streaks as goliaths. This idea has spread throughout the state. Just to show how ridiculous this idea is, here are some of the weights of the players in the line: Olson 170, Fleming 173, Reatherford 160, Murdock 165, Landon 172, Durbin 200, Perez 160, Finch 188, and Pratt 197. This line could hardly be called big in junior high school football.

CROSS COUNTRY . . . Here it goes! . . . The annual plea for Galesburg High School students to support the Harriers. The attendance at cross country meets in the past few years has been terrible. I honestly feel that these cross country meets are worth going to. After all, these boys work hard after school every night, and should be rewarded for their effort by your attendance at their meets. A story about the Harriers appears on this page.

A NEW FEATURE . . . In this issue of America's Foremost Student Newspaper, you will find on this page a feature story about Galesburg's great athlete, Dave Cox. We hope you will read this and find it very interesting. We wish to continue this idea by writing features on some of our school's other athletes. If you enjoyed this article, and want us to continue, let us know.

SO SORRY . . . When this column went to press the Galesburg-Peoria Woodruff game had not yet been played. That is why there is no mention of this contest in this column. However, the recount of the affair is to be found on page six. Look for a comment on the game in this column, in the next issue of the BUDGET.

WANTED . . . This department would appreciate the help of any girl who is interested in writing GAA stories. If interested, contact the coach of the BUDGET, Mr. McCormick, in Room 2, or Mike Lawrence, advisory 143.

Pictured at left is Ted Olson, 170-pound left end. Bar-ring injury, Olson should see plenty of action in the game with Canton tomorrow night.

The senior wingman, besides being a good pass receiver, has shown up well on defense. He also handles the kicking chores for the locals.

Ted was a regular on the sophomore team, then was a second stringer last year, before assuming a starting role this year.

If you have any sports news which you think would be interesting for BUDGET readers contact Mike Lawrence, advisory 143. We would prefer that this be information about things to come.
